

Upcoming Data mining and meta analysis article

Contributed by Triantafillos Paparountas

In the coming weeks a new article on data mining and meta analysis will be fully featured through this site, providing full details of data mining and meta analysis options showing available software in tabular form and proposed analysis steps. Furthermore, as a life ongoing project, lists of available software (commercial and academic) will be available to browse, so you can choose the software according to your needs.